

The Bubble! Fish

Once upon a time there was a little fish called Bubble! He lives in a small river that was very polluted.

He found another fish called Firulais. Both of them began to research the origin of pollution.

Suddenly a misterious fish appeared and gave them the answers to their questions: Human beings were responsible for the pollution

All together began to fight to eliminate all the rubbish and to advice people not to throw the rubbish into the river, but in different bins.

Nowadays they live happy in a clean river.
